Nevada Division of Water Resources measuring water levels in Nevada wells February through March

CARSON CITY, Nev. – Beginning in the middle of February and continuing into March, weather dependent, staff from the Nevada Division of Water Resources, Office of the State Engineer, will be measuring groundwater levels in permitted wells throughout various hydrographic basins in the state.

The data collection is part of an ongoing effort to assess hydrologic conditions throughout Nevada. Division staff will be measuring water levels primarily in irrigation and stock wells.

Contact Mark Beutner at 775-684-2821 or Shannon McDaniel at (775) 684-2842 for more information.
